Cargill Kitchen Solutions receives tenth annual award from leading food redistributor

Mt. Sterling, Illinois, March 24, 2008 – Mt. Sterling, Ill.-based Dot Foods, Inc., recently announced Cargill Kitchen Solutions (formerly Sunny Fresh Foods) as a Quality & Service Award winner. Established in 1998, Dot's Quality & Service Award recognizes Dot suppliers for providing superior quality and service. The award criteria include inbound service level, electronic transaction compliance and how well a supplier supports distributors.

"We congratulate Cargill Kitchen Solutions for achieving a level of quality and consistency at Dot that, at least at this time, is unprecedented," said Dot Foods Chairman Pat Tracy. "We also would like to congratulate them and recognize them for receiving, not once, but twice, this country's highest quality award, the Malcolm Baldrige Award."

This is the tenth consecutive Dot Quality & Service award for Cargill Kitchen Solutions. The company is the only food company to receive the Baldrige Award twice, in 1999 and 2005.

"More than the superior quality and service that this recognition signifies, it represents a decade of partnership between Dot Foods and Cargill Kitchen Solutions," said Cargill Kitchen Solutions President Mike Luker. "It's a partnership that gave us outstanding feedback from Dot to get better for all our customers and allowed us to provide Dot with great egg products to become a major provider in the breakfast category supply chain!"
